Thyroid Australia assists people who suffer from all thyroid disorders, their families and friends.

The aims of Thyroid Australia are:

- To provide personal support, counselling and advice;
- To provide information and training;
- To raise awareness of and interest in thyroid conditions;
- To provide advocacy on behalf of thyroid sufferers with government and the medical and paramedical professions; and
- To assist in fundraising for thyroid research.

By becoming a member of Thyroid Australia you will have access to our telephone support contacts. You can become involved in activities in your area where you will meet others and share your experiences. You will also receive a regular newsletter providing information on activities, treatments and support.

Thyroid Australia is an Australia-wide voluntary group whose founding members have suffered or been affected by various thyroid conditions and are keen to help others in similar situations.
